

LANGARA FISHING ADVENTURES

“Where nature is still natural”

Just south of Alaska, off the northern tip of Canada’s majestic Queen Charlotte Islands, lies Langara Island—a place small in size but large in adventure. It is one of the few places on earth where nature is still natural—wild, untouched, alive, and abundant.

At Langara Island, humpback and killer whales share waters with sea lions, dolphins and porpoises. Bald eagles soar with peregrine falcons. Rugged coastlines frame ancient wind-swept forests. And trophy-size salmon swim with giant halibut.

Today, luxurious accommodations and gourmet cuisine are an equally impressive part of this remote corner of the world, thanks to Langara Fishing Adventures.

Langara Fishing Adventures first brought sportfishing to these unexplored waters 25 years ago. Since then, they have introduced thousands of anglers and outdoor enthusiasts to the beauty and bounty of this incredible location, and established Langara Island as the destination of choice for world-class salmon fishing.

For the avid angler, a trip with Langara Fishing Adventures offers access to the most abundant salmon fishing waters in North America. Langara Island lies at the head of the key migratory route of almost every run of Pacific salmon returning to rivers throughout British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, and Northern California. At Langara Island, these salmon are ocean-bright and in their prime, with Spring salmon of up to 60+ pounds and Coho salmon of up to 20+ pounds. Halibut here can tip the scales from 30 to 300 pounds.

And despite its remote location on the edge of the Pacific Ocean, Langara Island has many well-protected bays and inlets, allowing you to enjoy an entire trip of great fishing without ever having to head out into open water.

For the outdoor enthusiast, every day here holds the promise of a once-in-a-lifetime moment: sighting a humpback or killer whale in full breach; racing alongside a fast-moving pod of acrobatic dolphins; and, of course, the exhausted joy of reeling in a mighty Pacific salmon.

Langara Fishing Adventures’ incredible setting, luxurious facilities, and unrivalled attention to service make this the ultimate choice for anyone interested in a truly unique adventure.

And although Langara Island is one of the most remote places on earth, it is very easy to get to—all trips with Langara Fishing Adventures are all-inclusive from Vancouver, Canada.

Included is air travel to the Queen Charlotte Islands, helicopter transportation to the lodge, accommodations, gourmet meals, marine clothing, private boats, all equipment, and care of your catch. Helicopter sight-seeing tours, hiking, beach-combing and relaxing massage treatments back at the lodge are just a few of the extras available to make your trip even more unforgettable.

Visit langara.com to start planning your next great adventure, or contact Langara Fishing Adventures at 800.668.7544 or info@langara.com.

www.langara.com

